HILLSIDE BLISS

A LUXURY COUNTRY COUPLES' RETREAT

Located on a sloping block in the foothills of the Cathedral Ranges, this four-bedroom luxury retreat was designed to be the ultimate couple's getaway. Tasked with creating a simple and low-maintenance build in an idyllic bush setting, Hedger Constructions has certainly delivered on a home that fits this brief while still maintaining a captivating contemporary look.

Designed as three separate pavilions connected by glass link-ways, the dwelling features earthy tones and materials to reflect the surrounding landscape and delineate each space. Angular shapes and unexpected pops of colour throughout the interior are used to brighten the home and add a contemporary and artistic feel.

The home has been carefully considered by this expert team to accommodate for whatever needs a visiting couple may require. The space is cosy and comforting, yet still leaves plenty of room to entertain. Large sliding doors either side of the living area allow the space to be opened and practically doubled for outdoor entertaining on the spacious curved deck.

Cut into the hillside, the home was oriented to maximise both thermal comfort and to frame views, blending effortlessly into the surrounding landscape. The gorgeous, pitched roof is accented by exposed black fixing plates, creating contrast in the bright space, and drawing the eyes to the elegant, tapered fireplace covered in textural handmade tiles with a floating concrete hearth.

Surrounding the fireplace, cream mosaic tiles bleed into the beautiful natural timber floorboards. This intriguing mix of elements is unique and stylish, embracing natural materials while injecting modern contemporary techniques.

The bathrooms of this statement home are equally as luxurious, with curved walls covered in textural Moroccan tiles. Bespoke concrete basins create an industrial edge and are complemented by brass tapware and custom black steel-framed mirrors with concealed storage.

This stylish custom home is understated, yet highly detailed, enabling it to sit in harmony with the rural surroundings, but feel truly contemporary in design. The perfect blend of country oasis and modern luxury comes together in this timeless couples' retreat.
